Leaving A Legacy of Beauty and Culture

Luther Burbank Gardens

STEVEN ECKL: See how it was that Luther Burbank left was more than the seeds, the russet potato, the spineless cactus, the Shasta daisy, the Santa Rosa plum, the quince tree. He had left a legacy of beauty.

J Paul Getty: Here is my life work put into the Getty Museum.

Now you see how life is again in nature.

ANDREA SELESTOW: It is a life full of culture. J. Paul Getty sought to bring culture to the United States.

SAINT DIANE: We lived in Los Angeles. We certainly could not afford this beauty, and he brought it to us to see.

STEVEN ECKL: Here is J. Paul Getty shown with the powerful nose.

ANDREA SELESTOW: Such a person has the ability to be a strong leader. I show this picture that you see Bill Clinton with the strong nose, is not the only game in town!

Valor White: Clinton is not one to continue to honor.

J. Edgar Hoover: He is nothing but a two-bit criminal.

Mandarin: We would have you see the cowboy as serving justice.

NATHAN the Judge: That all military personnel report to the Ten Commandments and not the commander-in-chief.

Valor White: Clinton goes about giving away the United States.

J. Edgar Hoover: Whereas these such as J. Paul Getty brought oil

	STEVEN ECKL: It is said of J. Paul Getty that he did not need to work, he had family money. But he worked to provide jobs for the blue collar worker. J. Paul Getty: Here is the same sunset as on the oil rigs.
