Soul Values

Song:

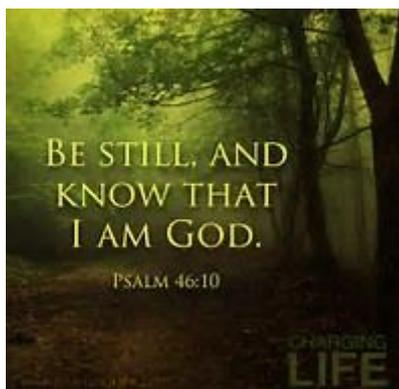

This Woman

Missa Pro Defunctis

Nancy of Oregon: In this first piece, you see how the young person in public schools goes in this direction in its soul precipitously, predictably.

“Thunder”?

And “Falling in Love” is the great thunder?

Michael Jackson: We as the Negroids were not so easily moved to allow our souls to be taken over with this and that chicanery and misery.

Stevie Wonder: How did you think I fared being blind? We had to learn to protect our souls. And in this music, you are seeing a person who is not tied to this goal of protecting the soul.

Michael Jackson: It is in this state that you would treat marijuana-deathdrug saying as long as it is legal, it is safe.

Stevie Wonder: And the soul seeking to find truth would know, "Someone is lying to me."

Nancy of Oregon: It is as the woman farmer said so truthfully, "romance is trash." She says this, as romance does not account for the rearing of the youth, the finding the right person to start a farm, and living the laws dealing with weather that they are able to fight in unison as a family unit.

FATHER MALACHI: "Falling in love" is a delusion.

FATHER STRONG: He does not know, as he has not a greater picture of the soul in God in life.

"Is all this God business about a belief in God?" You see the second piece is a belief in God if you will.

ANDREA SELESTOW: The more you fall in love with someone, the greater is the backdirect that you have with that person, that you have to balance a backdirect with that person and that is the reason for the attraction.

MOSES: The values are not of the family or nation's survivability.

MOTHER MARY: The second piece is the soul that is in an expansive knowing.

MOSES: The soul has not compartmentalized life but knows and believes in an unaccountable life in higher law.

MOTHER MARY: Life is beyond a self-center pursuit. This would be the purpose of the university— no fornication and learning to pursue the higher goals as in the serving of the nation. This is one of the differences between the two pieces, that the soul has a greater expansive knowing.

MOSES: I would add killing and sadism to that “~~high~~ hallucinate.”

“All hallucinate drugs are poison.”
