

Ascended Master

The demon "Butcherbird" is one that seizes the soul to go about to malign another. This can be of patterns of behavior to be researching what others said, or to be "finding dirt." It is an obsession to practice witchcraft or the labeling of another. It is a belittling of another whether they be in embodiment or not, whether they be someone they know, it matters not. It is that one might feel a sense of greater ease at knowing that one is a better person than another.

The demon uses another's name to "trash" that their own sense of self that is then elevated. One needs to find ones self-image in Christ not in human events. These identify a person by events, not by the Christ Light, or in seeking the Christ Light.

You might say that those in the Novitiate building at Camelot who went into Mother Mary's chapel throughout the day who ascended have the opposite behavior. They went in there to see who was there to be in trouble. They prayed for them. If they happened to be their friend, they would go and talk to them and say, "Is there something bothering you? How can I help?" These unascended ascended masters you know would give the same advice "study the teachings, go to decrees" and that would be the end of their involvement, they did what they were supposed to do.

It is like the Catholic chela who is a candidate to the ascension who keeps a ongoing to-do list to pray for others. She thinks that if she has done her usual round of prayers for a person, she crosses them off her list, she does not think about it again. She considers that they are on their list that was a directive that "Mother Mary told me to pray for them." It is an impersonal action, she has nothing to do with their lives, it is none of her business as she sees it.

These might do well to erect an altar and go to Mother Mary herself and ask, what would you like me to do with each of the names in which they are obsessed and begin to make a to-do list no differently to adopt these as new behaviors.

Butcherbird is found in those who are the fallen angels from Atlantis and Suern who use the drugs to take on a sharp tongue who see those of the society as "squares" and speak despairingly about what society has over time built up. These do not respect authority, neither do they work to painfully sculpt a better reality. Under drugs, they will use hate language that cause others to leave them alone.
