

Ascended Masters

The demon "Cackle chicken" is one that clucks continuously. It is as you would say, low maintenance and notably friendly. Nothing to complain of this chicken.

The Messenger is no longer there to direct chelas to go here and there. In February 2011, El Morya sent headquarters the directives of the Karmic Board to reopen Summit University and to hold conferences and to broadcast decrees. Years went by with nothing to show any real work results by the staff. El Morya asked the staff to take surveys at every occasion to monitor its progress. Even surveys did not come forth.

This is a one who must be continually commenting in his opinion. He does not control his cluck, cluck, cluck. All his waking hours it is clucking. If someone says the word weather, he will talk about "yes, I" "then I" "when I".

Here you have one in useless chatter that occupies time and space. It is not as you think of as a mother hen who cares about the details of her children and what they will need throughout the day, it is one who will think of what you do not need throughout the day to hear about I, I, I.

They waste your time. They either have you wait for them, or they will procrastinate and waste your time. They are concerned about themselves. They are not concerned about their Father's business in putting forth the mission. They can go for weeks and months this way never doing a single directive given you to do. These are the wound-sharers, they must say I, I, I as this is socially acceptable behavior to be sharing ones life story over and over to get your sympathy.

Thus it is a demon that is not easily discernable except you ask where is the proof of your work and physical result.

If you do not think the February 2011 dispensations are the work of El Morya, what are you doing? Where is your work?

Were these only the wound-sharers at the Ranch? These were also the leaders who were not allowing others to fulfill the mission. What they had done since the February 2011 dispensations was lost time. They lost most of the 20,000 members, it was down to 2,000 by 2011. They have not work. No, it is talk, talk, talk. They say, we do not think this is El Morya speaking. They where is the work?

Though the chicken is a laying hen, this demon does not produce, it only talks, talks, talks and does no work.
