Jesus said to John the Revelator: I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shall not know what hour I will come upon thee. Defile not your garments; and these shall walk with me in white: for they are worthy.

He that overcomes, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his angels.

He that has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says through the churches.

He that overcomes will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more out. I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is the new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God: and I will write upon him my new name which is Christ Jesus.

It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds out of the mouth of God.

Thus forever, as long as you are encased in mortal form by your free will, that form shall not be adequate to the Light of God released to you. Thus, the symphony is greater than the composer can contain and yet it does pass through him.

Live by God's Word

Jesus asks you today—Would you hold Light, O precious children?

Then know you must become one with my heart, for the heart is the point, the very first point, of thine immortality. This heart of petals of rose of Sharon truly is the vessel. To receive it, to receive it around your heart yet within your heart, yet apart and within and apart again, you must begin to pluck out these filings of mortality and replace them with the strands of immortality, building day by day, building day by day the desiring and the intense longing to be who you are!

You find this in saying, "Not this, not that. Not this, not that. Yea or nay. Yes or no." You are separating out what is for you to follow on the Ruby Cross path day by day. You are not yet the fullness of Christ until you do this, Beloved.

Therefore will you thirst? Therefore will you hunger? And will you not fast and pray until the Lord enter your temple and chase out of the mind the mortality and reinstate the hierarchies of Archangels and Elohim to take dominion in the mind?
